

In the second part of his two-part monograph, the author is occupied with the system approaches and system concept of physical culture. The monograph is divided into eight chapters, in which he devotes himself to value problems, development processes of physical culture, organization, institutes and management of physical culture, as well as to relationship of system of physical culture to its environment, legal and economical system, employment, lifestyle, health, work efficiency.