

GRAMMATICAL STRUCTURES IN ENGLISH: MEANING IN CONTEXT

Olga Dontcheva-Navratilova

CONTENTS

PREFACE	6
PART ONE – FROM SENTENCE GRAMMAR TO DISCOURSE AWARE GRAMMAR	7
1. Introduction	7
2. Varieties of English	8
3. Functions of language	15
4. Choices in the semantic representation of sentences	21
5. Linking and grammatical cohesion	31
6. Information processing. Topic and focus	46
7. Formal and informal language	54
8. Polite and familiar language	61
9. Personal and impersonal language	65
10. Spoken and written language	68
PART TWO – ANALYSING SENTENCE STRUCTURE	78
11. Information, reality and belief.....	78
11.1 Giving and requesting information. Representing information	78
11.2 Expressing attitude and opinion	82
12. Mood, emotion and attitude	86
12.1 Expressing feelings and emotions	86
12.2 Friendly communications and influencing people	90
13. Meaning in connected discourse	94
13.1 Linking signals and constructions	94
13.2 Reference, substitution and omission	99
14. Information processing	103
14.1 Presenting and focusing information	103
14.2 Word order and emphasis 1	106
14.3 Word order and emphasis 2	109

15. Varieties of English	113
15.1 Status of participants	113
15.2 Medium and place	117
PART THREE – PRACTICING SENTENCE STRUCTURE	121
16. Clauses with hypothetical meaning	121
17. Fronting	124
17.1 Fronting without inversion	124
17.2 Fronting with inversion	125
17.2.1 Fronting with subject – verb inversion	125
17.2.2 Fronting with subject – operator inversion	126
18. Postponement	128
18.1 Passive voice	128
18.2 Extraposition of clausal subject	129
18.3 Extraposition of clausal object	132
18.4 Postponement of the object	133
18.5 Other discontinuities	133
19. Cleft sentences	135
19.1 Cleft sentences proper	135
19.2 Pseudo-cleft sentences	136
20. Existential sentences	139
GLOSSARY OF LINGUISTIC TERMS	141
ENGLISH-CZECH DICTIONARY OF LINGUISTIC TERMS	154
ANSWERS TO PART THREE	160
BIBLIOGRAPHY	166