

Writing topic

1. You go to several job interviews and are offered three jobs: one that is high paid, but will require you to work long hours and live away from your family; one that is low paid, but is rewarding and will give you plenty of free time; and one that has no salary, but pays a high commission and allows you to work the hours you choose. Which job do you choose?

Writing topic

2. Your friend falls and breaks a leg while the two of you are hiking. You cannot get a phone signal. Your friend knows how to read a compass and map, but you do not. Do you turn back alone and try to retrace your steps, stay and hope that someone else passes by, or try to carry your friend back?

Writing topic

3. You are on a space ship that has just arrived on a new planet. You don't know what to expect when you open the doors. Do you send one person out to explore alone or stay together? Do you walk out with your weapons ready to fire or with your arms open to show you aren't dangerous?