

Central Europe during the Interwar Period
WWII in Central Europe
Liberation of the Central Europe

• Central Europe at the beginning of WW II

• Germany

- The Third Reich – Adolf Hitler as a Führer (Leader) – all the power centralized in his hands, nazism, Gestapo (secret police – Heinrich Himmler) – persecuting of Jews, liberals, Socialist, and Communist opposition – concentrations camps, propaganda (Minister Joseph Goebbels), economical prosperity again – preparations for the war → 1935 – Germany began to re-arm, 1936 – remilitarization of Rhineland, Axis with Italy and later also with Japan ...
- Blitzkrieg - method of warfare whereby an attacking force, spearheaded by a dense concentration of armoured and motorised or mechanised infantry formations with close air support, breaks through the opponent's line of defence by short, fast, powerful attacks and then dislocates the defenders, using speed and surprise to encircle them. Blitzkrieg attempts to unbalance the enemy by making it difficult for it to respond to the continuously changing front, then defeat it in a decisive (battle of annihilation)

- Location of the Rhineland (as defined by the Treaty of Versailles) along the River Rhine

- Invasion of Poland (Case White) started in September 1939
- Molotov–Ribbentrop Pact
- The success of the invasion marked the end of the Second Polish Republic, though Poland never formally surrendered
- Decisive German and Soviet victory
- Territorial changes: Polish territory divided among Nazi Germany, USSR, Lithuania and Slovakia, Free City of Danzig annexed by Nazi Germany

• Invasion of Poland

• Cold War

- No open military conflict, geopolitical tension after WW II between powers in the Eastern Bloc and Western Bloc
- Rivalry: policy, economy, science, culture and sport,...very dangerous phenomenon of the conflict East and West was armaments

- 1st phase: Berlin Blockade (1948–49) was the first major crisis of the Cold War; Chinese Civil War and the outbreak of the Korean War (1950–53). USSR and USA competed for influence in Latin America, and the decolonizing states of Africa and Asia. Meanwhile, the Hungarian Revolution of 1956 was stopped by the Soviets. The expansion and escalation sparked more crises, such as the Suez Crisis (1956), the Berlin Crisis of 1961, and the Cuban Missile Crisis of 1962.
- 2nd phase: Sino-Soviet split. 1968 Prague Spring and Occupation of Czechoslovakia, and Vietnam War (1955–75).
- 3rd phase (period of détente - easing of strained relations, especially in political situation): - Strategic Arms Limitation Talks and the US opening relations with the People's Republic of China as a strategic counterweight to the Soviet Union. Détente collapsed with the beginning of the Soviet–Afghan War in 1979.
- 4th phase - elevated tension: Soviet downing of Korean Air Lines Flight 007 (1983), and the "Able Archer" NATO military exercises (1983). In the mid-1980s -Mikhail Gorbachev introduced the liberalizing reforms. 1989 was a wave of revolutions that peacefully (with the exception of the Romanian Revolution) overthrew all of the communist regimes of Central and Eastern Europe. Dissolution of the USSR in December 1991 and the collapse of communist regimes in other countries such as Mongolia, Cambodia and South Yemen. The United States remained as the world's only superpower.
