

Gerund or Infinitive?

My boss Tonny has _____ (promise, propose, accept) my suggestion, which has made me very happy because I cannot _____ (afford, spend) too much time on it. Both of us _____ (would like, finish, work) on this project. I _____ (dislike, be exposed) to big pressure, but on the other hand, every new challenge _____ (help, develop) my rational thinking. I have even _____ (stop, play) football to get more time. A friend of mine suggested that I should even leave school because of this project but I have _____ (refuse, stop, study). I don't _____ (want, pretend, have) an ideal life but I am _____ (enjoy, live) it. Moreover, at this point I can't _____ (afford, give up, use) such a great opportunity. I have _____ (promise, not avoid, take) responsibility for what I do.

Bonus: (translate; the underlined words should be translated as verbs, not as nouns):

Kdybychom loni neodmítli dokončit postavení našeho nového sídla, mohli jsme přestat očekávat vytvoření stavební komise v lednu 2007.