

Conditionals

1. She doesn't speak English and therefore she can't study abroad.

If _____, _____. - conditional 2

2. I didn't see him yesterday and that's why I didn't tell him about it.

If _____, _____. - conditional 3

3. I didn't study hard at university and now I don't have a well-paid job.

If _____, _____. - mixed conditional

Had _____, _____. - mixed conditional, inversion

Modals - use modal verbs in all the sentences.

1. I am sure he is playing football now.

He _____ football now.

2. I am absolutely convinced he is not playing football now.

He _____ football now.

3. I am sure he practises playing the piano every day.

He _____ the piano every day.

4. I am sure he doesn't practise playing the piano much.

He _____ the piano much.

5. It is possible that he is playing football now.

He _____ football now.

6. Perhaps he is not playing football now.

He _____ football now.

7. I am sure he was going to the gym when I met him last night.

He _____ the gym last night when I met him last night.

8. I am sure he wasn't going to the gym when I met him last night.

He _____ the gym last night when I met him last night.

9. I am sure he went to the gym a lot when he lived in Las Vegas.

He _____ the gym a lot when he lived in Las Vegas.

10. I am sure he didn't go to the gym often when he lived in Shanghai.

He _____ the gym a lot when he lived in Las Vegas.

11. They don't have to buy new equipment.

They _____ new equipment.

12. They didn't have to buy new equipment last year but they did it anyway.

They _____ new equipment last year.

13. They are not allowed to buy new equipment.

They _____ new equipment.