

Reporting Verbs Exercise

Use these verbs in the spaces below - grammar is important too!

States, conclude, claim, argue, mention, note, reject, suggest, question, emphasise, discuss, point out, explain

0. Wills (2020) states that genetically modified (GM) food can be harmful for the body. (says directly)
1. Jones (2018) _____ the importance of building restoration to a country's economy. (refers to briefly)
2. Harris (2021) _____ that Bitcoin has no value whatsoever. (says indirectly that something is true)
3. Ackroyd et al. (2020) _____ whether the use of facial recognition software is ethical. (suggests it is inaccurate)
4. Krashen (1981) _____ that language acquisition does not need extensive use of grammar rules. (to examine the key points)
5. Samuel and Preston (2021) _____ that the increase spending for councils in England is not adequate enough to address the issues in the care sector. (they give reasons for their view)
6. Watson (2021) claims that he has had a major breakthrough in the fight against cancer. (says something is true directly, and firmly, often used when others disagree)
7. Asprey (2018) _____ that exercise is a powerful anti-aging tool. (to highlight an important point)
8. Banks (2021) _____ how the UK government plans to launch a rocket into orbit next year. (give clear details about something)
9. Parker (2019) _____ that a reduction in the manufacturing of single-use plastics is necessary to reduce plastic pollution. (the final point or summary)
10. Robinson and Williams (2022) _____ the claims that 5G technology poses a threat to humans. (disagree with somebody or a theory)
11. Dawes et al. (2021) _____ that a quarter of all adults in the UK used mobile payments in 2020. (states but does not develop at length)
12. Madley (2022) _____ that robots will be an important investment in most industries. (to say just briefly)

Answers

1. Jones (2018) mentions the importance of building restoration to a country's economy. (refers to briefly)
2. Harris (2021) suggests that Bitcoin has no value whatsoever. (says indirectly that something is true)
3. Ackroyd et al. (2020) questions whether the use of facial recognition software is ethical. (suggests it is inaccurate)
4. Krashen (1981) discusses that language acquisition does not need extensive use of grammar rules. (to examine the key points)
5. Samuel and Preston (2021) argue that the increase spending for councils in England is not adequate enough to address the issues in the care sector. (they give reasons for their view)
6. Watson (2021) claims that he has had a major breakthrough in the fight against cancer. (says something is true directly, and firmly, often used when others disagree)
7. Asprey (2018) emphasises that exercise is a powerful anti-aging tool. (to highlight an important point)
8. Banks (2021) explains how the UK government plans to launch a rocket into orbit next year. (give clear details about something)
9. Parker (2019) concludes that a reduction in the manufacturing of single-use plastics is necessary to reduce plastic pollution. (the final point or summary)
10. Robinson and Williams (2022) reject the claims that 5G technology poses a threat to humans. (disagree with somebody or a theory)
11. Dawes et al. (2021) points out that a quarter of all adults in the UK used mobile payments in 2020. (states but does not develop at length)
12. Madley (2022) notes that robots will be an important investment in most industries. (to say just briefly)