

Transform the sentences into passive voice:

The President has just named a new Minister of Education.

We are going to put the results on the internet in the afternoon.

They should publish the tender in January.

The tabloid media always pick the most sensational news.

They've given Tom an extended deadline for the project.

The audience called the actors back on the stage.

We cannot give him an extra week of holiday.

We will pay the invoice as soon as we receive it.

Your boss is never going to promote you.

You must hand in the assignment by the given deadline.

Ivan Trojan is playing the role of Václav with his usual virtuosity.