

Team No. 2

(Seminar Group A)

Idealist Healer

Martin Hrdlička (208297)

Current job: Team Leader and Ruby Contractor at JetMinds s.r.o.

About me: I prefer freedom before command & control. I strongly believe in self-organization and self-development. My target is improving and bringing new technologies and ideas to business to be better. I'm an idea farmer, a lean perfectionist and an improver.

Specialties: Lean-Agile Development and Management, Lean Philosophy, Coaching, Software Architecture, Ruby, Testing, NoSQL solutions

Rational
Field-marshal

Tibor Szabó (256579)

Current job: Founder, Project Architect and Programmer at inQool a.s.

About me: I'm an entrepreneur, who likes new challenges but stands firmly on the ground (with the head in the cloud :). Time management and a productivity enthusiast. A software architect, with a focus on what is "under the hood". A result-oriented programmer.

Specialties: Team Leading, Soft Skills, Time Management, Work Effectivity

Reflection report

ORGANIZATION

Our team was established with a little problem at the beginning, but it was resolved successfully and then it went pretty well without other problems. Our personal types are very different so we had to get used to each other, but after few weeks we were able to understand each other and cooperate effectively. Martin is a perfectionist in many ways which are sometimes good, but sometimes causes things to take long time. Tibor is more conservative personal type and tries to find good solution for problems but sometimes he pushes other people too hard. We organized our teamwork primarily through Skype with regular personal meetings every week. We were satisfied with the organization of team work, which yielded good results. During our work we realized there is one motto which characterizes us:

“Bez práce nejsou koláče”

Reflection report

TEAM COOPERATION

Martin brought the basic idea which was extended during many personal session. The idea was developed through live discussion and informal brainstorming. Online communication was done by Skype and university email and we shared files through DropBox. Coming to an agreement required some discussion, but after we have gotten to know each other well we were able to come to an agreement in very short time. No real argument took place in our communication, just constructive ones.