2) Insert commas into the following text.

The Great Depression was an important time in our nation's history. Unemployment urban decay and a sense of hopelessness filled almost every part of human life. Yet even in the midst of great misery people needed to entertain themselves. People tried many different ways to relieve their tensions from religious revivals to Jazz music to membership in the Communist party. But a whole lot of average people who were suffering in their daily lives often sought escapist entertainment in the form of movies. One such movie was Charlie Chaplin's Modern Times. In Modern Times "The Little Tramp" symbolizes the simple human values that are threatened by industrialism.
