

Description: Customer orders a ride on specific time. Our reservation system verifies if there is free spot. If not, it tries to find and offer other available time slots. Those time slots are locked so no other customer can take them. After time slot is selected, transaction is verified with the bank and reservation is created. Bill is generated and ride added to the autonomous car planning system. After that confirmation email is generated and sent to the customer.