

Asphalt 9: Legends

Asphalt 9: Legends is a racing game with both career and multiplayer modes. It has easy loop of trying to win against other players, while being able to use different types of bonuses (shockwaves, nitro, etc.) and overcoming issues like not having good enough car or gas.

First two seasons of career mode were very easy for me, except for one round that I have to go several times. All the mechanics were easy to understand, and I have no problem beating the other cars.

Multiplayer mode was frustrating for me, since I don't have good enough cars and, in this game, you can't directly buy them – you have got them from the cards. Also, the ranking system feels more like a random number generator.

Overall, this game is very well made for me. It is very quick and easy, but still challenging enough. Combination of this and Worlds in League of Legends is the reason I have not left my house for two weeks.