What is indiacaca?

- Indiacaca is a form of the Brazilian game 'peteca' popular in Europe.
- This hybrid of Volleyball and Badminton is played with a giant shuttlecock (sort of a ball with feathers on it ) goes by many names.
- indiacaca can be played between two players facing each other, or by small teams

History

Records showed that in the past Indiaca was practiced by native Brazilian Indians as a recreation, even before the Portuguese arrived. This was passed successively through generations in Brazil.

Rules

- Indica is played on court across a net with similar rules to volleyball.
- Instead of a ball, a large shuttlecock, sometimes also called an indica, or featherball is used; and it is controlled using the hands.

Playing area

Teams

- In competitions there must be 5 players on court at the moment of the service. Special Rules may authorize a team to play with only 4 players
- In mixed category, teams must have at least 2 male and 2 female players on the court

How to score a point?

A team scores a point:

1. by successfully grounding the ball on the opponent's court.
2. when the opponent team commits a
3. fault. when the opponent receives a penalty

A match is won by the team that, according to rules of the concrete competition:

1. wins 2 sets in a best of three sets game.
2. wins 3 sets in a best of five games.

How to play?

A row of seven white ladders of increasing height, arranged from left to right. The ladders are set against a light gray background. On the far left, there is a large graphic element consisting of a blue diagonal bar and a black diagonal bar. The text is centered over the ladders.

And now you will learn
how to play
step by step
