The screenshot shows the APA PsycNET website interface. At the top, there is the APA PsycNET logo and the text 'AMERICAN PSYCHOLOGICAL ASSOCIATION'. To the right, there are links for 'Login', 'Admin Center', 'Help', 'Contact Us', and 'Feedback'. Below this is a navigation bar with 'SEARCH', 'BROWSE', 'TERM FINDER', and 'MY PsycNET'. Underneath the navigation bar are several tabs: 'PsycARTICLES', 'PsycBOOKS', 'PsycEXTRA', 'PsycCRITIQUES Reviews', 'PsycTESTS', 'PsycTHERAPY', and 'My List'. The main content area is titled 'PsycTESTS Browse By Construct'. It features a 'Browse' sidebar with options: 'By Test name/Acronym', 'By Construct' (which is highlighted), 'By Test Author', and 'By Year'. The main area shows an alphabetical index from A to Z, with 'N' highlighted. Below the index is a 'Jump to' search box with a 'GO' button and a 'Next' button. The list of tests under 'N' includes: 'Narcissism (8)', 'Narcissistic Personality Inventory (NPI)', 'Narcissistic Personality Inventory 16 (NPI-16)', 'Hypersensitive Narcissism Scale (HSNS)', 'Childhood Narcissism Scale (CNS)', 'Pseudoautonomy and Peer-Group Dependence Scales', 'MMPI Narcissism Scale', and 'Dirty Dozen'. The last item is partially cut off.

Narcissistic Personality Inventory (NPI), 1979

Authors: Raskin, Robert N.; Hall, Calvin S.
doi: 10.1037/t00001-000
Construct: Narcissism, Personality
Purpose: The purpose of the Narcissistic Personality Inventory is to assess narcissistic traits.

Administration Method: Paper
Summary: The NPI is the most commonly used assessment tool for measuring narcissistic traits in social psychological research. Raskin and Hall (1979, 1981) developed the Narcissistic Personality Inventory (NPI), a 54-item, forced-choice questionnaire with paired statements designed to measure individual differences in narcissism in nonclinical adult populations. For each paired statement, one represents narcissistic traits and the other nonnarcissistic. Several different versions of this tool have emerged since its invention. Currently a 40-item forced-choice adaptation of the NPI is the preferred format for assessing narcissism in adult subjects (Raskin & Terry 1988).

Dr. Rita Chi-Ying Chung Hi, . How are you today?

I'm fine...

Dr. Rita Chi-Ying Chung And thank you for coming in. You are welcome . But before we just start, let me tell you what we are going to do here today and in counseling in general . Okay, and this is an opportunity for you to talk about some of your concerns or issues or challenges that you might be facing at the moment, and for me to listen, and for us to sort of work together to get a better understanding on what is happening with you . And maybe come up with some ways of coping with some of these concerns and in general to just make you feel a bit better. Is that clear?

Okay, okay .

Dr. Rita Chi-Ying Chung Yeah, so, what do you want to talk about today?

Well? The educational system here is little bit different from what I'm accustomed to. I did my undergraduate degree in my home country in .

Dr. Rita Chi-Ying Chung Okay, .

And we have a year-long system there. Here it is a semester system. So, you cram your courses into a few months as against having it stretched out over the year . So, that has been one of the challenges that I've had to face to be able to get all the work done.

Dr. Rita Chi-Ying Chung Right, .

In that short period of time.

Dr. Rita Chi-Ying Chung Yeah, alright. So, the system here is a lot more intense and...

Yeah, yeah.

Do another quarrel. No, No, I'm not sure, and I take them as they come , I mean I'm not t I should do.

Chi-Ying Chung Right. Well, we were talking about your «anxiety» level, you are saying having a situation where professor you felt what could be more understanding . And

I understand what you are asking?

Chi-Ying Chung Yeah.

I'm just not sure what the best solution would be for that situation because I allow myself xieties as a part of life and, you know, maybe I have excused it away...

Chi-Ying Chung Alright, alright.

It happened, but I'm not exactly sure of, I mean I guess I could try to...

Chi-Ying Chung Alright.

To not be anxious about it...

Chi-Ying Chung Well, let me ask you, do you think «anxiety» is the problem for you?

Oh! Yeah.

Chi-Ying Chung And you wanted to do something....

Well, I have «anxiety» issues and I'm dealing with that.

Chi-Ying Chung Alright. To talk in what way you are dealing with that?

Well, I do have a therapist that I worked with for my «anxiety».

Playlists

Database users can create playlists containing videos, clips of portions of videos, or links to other Web pages. Playlists are typically created around a topic, and users may title their playlists to reflect this. Users can also add notes to assist others in understanding and enjoying their playlist. A playlist may be shared using its static URL, making playlists very useful for pointing colleagues and students toward videos and other material of interest. Professors can also create a selection of clips to show in a class or as assigned viewing for homework. Users can see their own playlists by clicking on "My Playlists" on the upper right-hand side of the screen after logging in.

The My Playlists tab contains a user's personal playlists, and are only visible to individual users.
