

POLITICAL ISSUES AND SOCIAL POLICY IN THE EUROPEAN UNION

Aims

An identification and examination of key political issues in a range of social policy areas within the European Union (EU). Employing relevant concepts, models and theories, these issues will be addressed within the context of EU processes of harmonisation, mutual recognition, convergence and the overall on-going integration project.

Objectives

Initially, a range of theoretical models and concepts relating to the overall development of the EU, and the process of integration, will be examined against the background of the growth in importance of social policy areas in the EU project and political issues associated with that development. Within that framework and process the course will then proceed to address political issues relating to specific areas of social policy, including those concerning the environment, employment and unemployment, education, the 'demographic time-bomb', gender, and immigration and asylum policy.

Structure of the course

The course will be taught through a series of weekly lectures and workshops. There will be 9 lectures and 2 workshops

Course programme:

PLEASE NOTE: 90% attendance at lectures (i.e. at least 8) is a requirement to pass the course (see Course Assessment on page 3)

All lectures and workshops will be held in Room P52 from 18.00 to 19.40 on the following dates:

- 05.10.10 Lecture 1. The growth in importance of social policy in the European Union project
- 05.10.10 Lecture 2. The E.U. integration project and the politics of social policy: theoretical perspectives – 'spillover', functionalism, neo-functionalism, federalism
- 12.10.10 Lecture 3. Harmonisation, mutual recognition, and the europeanisation of social policy.

19.10.10 READING AND WORKSHOP PREPARATION WEEK (no lecture)

- 26.10.10 Lecture 4. Environment policy
- 02.11.10 Workshop 1 (see page 2)
- 09.11.10 Lecture 5. Employment and unemployment policy
- 16.11.10 Lecture 6. Education and training policy
- 23.11.10 Lecture 7. Immigration, mobility and asylum policy
- 30.11.10 Lecture 8. The 'gender dimension' and E.U. social policy
- 07.12.10 Workshop 2 (see page 2)
- 14.12.10 Lecture 9. The 'demographic time bomb'

Workshops programme:

PLEASE NOTE:

- a) 100% attendance at the 2 workshops is a requirement to pass the course (see Course Assessment on page 3)
- b) Students will be expected to have read for each workshop and participate. Indicative readings are given below for each workshop

02.11.10 Workshop 1: This will consist of student participation and discussion groups.

Question:

Provide examples and reasons why you believe political, social or economic concerns and factors are of most importance for the success of the E.U. integration project? How important in that process is the 'politics of social policy', and why?

Course Assessment

- a) Attendance: 90% attendance at lectures (at least 8) and 100% attendance at the 2 workshops is a requirement to pass this course.
- b) Essay (maximum 2000 words/6 sides of A4 paper)

Deadline: Tuesday 4 January 2011. To be submitted by email or through the Masaryk University Information System

Students will be required to submit an essay in answer to one of the questions shown below. The essay must be of a maximum of 2,000 words/6 sides of A4 paper, be typewritten, fully properly referenced, and include a full bibliography.

- (i) Using examples from at least two social policy areas illustrate practically and theoretically how social policy has grown in importance in the European Union integration project. Suggest political, social or economic reasons for that development.
- (ii) Providing evidence and examples to justify your arguments, evaluate whether politically European Union social policy can be characterised as Europeanised?

Texts

Students are referred below to a range of journal, book and internet texts. These may be added to within the lectures, and if so, sources will be included within the lecture powerpoint presentations placed on the Information System prior to each lecture.

Books

Hantrais provides a useful introductory overview, and is useful for a range of E.U. social policy areas covered in the course. Kleinman addresses some broader issues concerning the role of social policy in the E.U. Kleinman (Ch.7) also examines the pressures created for EU social policy by rising levels of unemployment and changes in Labour Market policies. Richardson (Ch.3) examines 'Europeanisation', as well as Regions and the E.U. social policy process (Ch.13). Featherstone and Radaelli also examine the politics of 'Europeanisation'. Hantrais outlines EU strategies for promoting equal opportunities and gender policies in the social policy arena. Castles considers the importance of 'family friendly' policies, particularly useful for gender policy analysis.
