

Filip Křepelka
353@mail.muni.cz
MV929K Introduction to EU Law
SOC019 Law of the European Union

Dear students - guests at Masaryk University and Czech colleagues,

"Introduction to the European Union Law" (MV929K) and "Law of the European Union" (SOC019) will be taught during whole autumn term 2006 every Wednesday at 11.10-12.40 in room no. 211 (Právnická fakulta - Faculty of law, (street) Veveri 70, Brno)

We will begin in 4th October (no lecture 27th September!)

Every lecture will last approx. 80 minutes.

For every lecture You will get my hand-out with assignments and indications of compulsory readings. I will also distribute CDs as reader (treaties, legislation, judgements)

Since the 2nd lecture we will start with discussion based on assignments and readings.

Scheduled lectures

10-04 (1) European Community and European Union - history and nature
10-11 (2) EC/EU Law, its sources and position
10-18 (3) EC/EU Institutions
10-25 (4) Legislative, administrative and judicial procedures
11-01 (5) Free movement of goods
11-08 (6) Free movement of individuals
11-15 (7) Legal entities, services, capital and payments
11-22 (8) Single currency + EC/EU budget
11-29 (9) Competition, other EC policies
12-06 (10) External trade + foreign and security policy
12-13 (11) Civil, administrative and criminal affairs
12-20 (12) the Czech Republic: admission and membership
(The schedule can be changed if suitable or necessary)

The course will be finished with written exam (50 minutes). Terms for the examination will be scheduled according to needs of exchange students in December. Czech students will pass the exam (facultative course) in reduced extent in January and February 2007.

Filip Křepelka filip.krepelka@law.muni.cz
Masaryk University-Faculty of Law-Department of International and European Law