

WRITING AND LETTERS OF MOTIVATION

- Do you like writing? Do you prefer writing or typing? Are you a good writer?
- When you write in English, what sort of texts/documents do you write/type?
- What problems do you encounter when writing/typing in English?
- What is a motivation letter? Why would you write it? What should it contain?
- What are some of the typical phrases found in letters of motivation?

1. Order these questions so that the answer would form an efficient letter of motivation:

- How do my skills and abilities relate to the position/programme offered?
- Have I thanked the reader for considering my application?
- What attracts me to the position?
- Why should I be chosen?
- What position/programme am I applying for?
- When am I available for an interview?
- What are my strengths?
- Where did I find out about it?

2. Decide which phrases are appropriate to answer the questions above.

3. Decide which recommendations will help you write a good motivation letter and why?

- 1) You should list all the schools you've attended, your grades and the jobs you've done in a motivation letter.
- 2) Assess the employer's needs and your skills. Then try to match them in the letter in a way that will appeal to the employer's interest.
- 3) You should be as specific as possible and use concrete examples.
- 4) It's recommendable to insert pictures and links in a motivation letter.
- 5) Copy-pasting is a good tip for preparing a motivation letter especially if you write more of them.
- 6) Arrange the points in a logical sequence; organize each paragraph around a main point.
- 7) A suitable length for a motivation letter is one and half to two pages.
- 8) Demonstrate, if possible, some knowledge of the organization to which you are applying.
- 9) Most of the sentences should start with "I".

EXAMPLE OF TEST TASK:

You want to apply for an Erasmus exchange program to study one semester at the medical school of the prestigious University of Edinburgh. Along with your application, you will need to submit a motivation letter which should explain why you wish to study at the University of Edinburgh and provide any additional information that you feel may support your application. Your text should be between 120 to 150 words (approximately 1 page).
