A hypothetical bachelor's project

Title   The impact of Halloween masks on attractiveness perception

Hypothesis   People wearing scary masks will be found less attractive than those wearing neutral/pretty ones

Method   Half a dozen masks tipped out at a Halloween party, two dozen respondents (12 males - 9 hetero, 3 homosexual, 12 females - 11 hetero, 1 self-pronounced lesbian) filling out a questionnaire assessing the degree of the mask wearer's attractiveness

Results   Hypothesis disproved, respondents not influenced much by the masks, assessed the wearers' natural attractiveness

You investigated the attractiveness of people depending on masks they put on for a Halloween party. The hypothesis was that
