

The following are links to various online dictionaries:

- The free dictionary
<http://www.thefreedictionary.com/>
- Cambridge
<http://dictionary.cambridge.org/dictionary/british/happiness?q=happiness>
- Oxford
<http://oxforddictionaries.com/definition/english/wonderful?q=wonderful>
- Longman
<http://www.ldoceonline.com/dictionary/miserable>
- Merriam-Webster dictionary
<http://www.merriam-webster.com/>
- Etymological dictionary
<http://www.etymonline.com/index.php?term=blind>
- English phrasal verbs
<http://www.usingenglish.com/reference/phrasal-verbs/b-list.html>
- Urban dictionary
<http://www.urbandictionary.com/daily.php>

Links to websites to practise American English

- Daily ESL: you can listen, read the text, do follow-up exercises
<http://www.dailyesl.com/index.htm>
- More advanced language
<http://www.ezslang.com/>
- Advanced listening activities including reading, answering questions and text completion.
<http://www.agendaweb.org/listening/advanced.html>