

Active:

She writes the book.

She is writing the book.

She wrote the book.

She was writing the book.

She has written the book.

She has been writing the book.

She had written the book.

She had been writing the book.

She will write the book.

She is going to write the book.

She must write the book.

She should have written a book.

They say she wrote a book.

Passive:

The book is written.

The book is being written.

The book was written.

The book was being written

The book has been written.

The book has being written.

The book had been written.

The book had being written.

The book will be written.

The book is going to be written.

The book must be written.

The book should have been written.

The book is said to be written.