Exam training

1. Write five sentences on your paper. The sentences can be about anything, but use a range of tenses. Write clearly - other people have to read your work.
2. Got five? Call me!
3. Pass the paper to your left.

Exam training

3. Read the sentences. Underline part of the sentence.

Example: I like to eat chicken curry.

My sister can't ride a horse.

The angry elephant doesn't like dirty water.

Mushrooms are the work of the devil.

4. Done? Pass the paper to your left.

Exam training

5. The underlined part of the sentence is the answer to a question. You need to write the question.

Example:      Answer: I like to eat chicken curry
                    Question: What do you like to eat?

                    Answer: My sister can't ride a horse.

                    Question: Who can't ride a horse?

                    Question: Who is your mother's daughter to you?

6. Done? Call me to check

(Sort of) Exam training

6. In your groups, ask a person one of your questions. They will answer the question, then ask somebody else a different question.

Example: Student A: Who can't ride a horse?

Student B: My mum. Where did your cat go yesterday?

Student C: To the park. Why are mushrooms so disgusting?

Browse and Propose

Co-operation

1. Open the syllabi folder.
2. Read your classmates' work
3. Could you imagine working with any of them?

Based on the syllabus, choose a person you could collaborate with
This person does not have to teach the same subject as you, infact, something interdisciplinary could be more interesting!

4. Make notes - Why do you want to work with that person?

Why should they want to work with you?

Brainstorm a few ideas for a collaborative project

Writing a proposal

A proposal is a possible exam question, and is based on the letter writing activity you completed in the spring semester. The proposal structure is very similar to the

Erasmus letter.	Erasmus	Proposal
	Formal greeting	Formal greeting - Dear Mr/Ms Smith
	Introduction + reason for writing	Introduction + reason for writing
	Academic background	School/teacher background`
	Motivation for choice	Motivation for choice
	Personal qualities	Outline of project
	Gratitude	Benefits to both schools/teachers
	Polite ending	Polite ending
	Appropriate sign-off Yours Faithfully	Appropriate sign-off Yours Sincerely / kind regards

Write your proposal

Write your proposal

Follow the structure guidelines

Write clearly - if I can't read it, I can't mark/grade it
