

REGISTER AND ARGUMENTATION

READING, LISTENING & SPEAKING

1. What is register? Read the following definition from Oxford dictionary and paraphrase it.

<http://dictionary.cambridge.org/grammar/british-grammar/register>

2. Watch this video about register, take notes and be ready to give a brief summary.

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=L16i2enJA_w

STUDYING & DISCUSSING

Study the following examples of different registers (A) and the rules for formal register (B).

<http://www.really-learn-english.com/language-register.html>

LISTENING, LEARNING & NOTE TAKING

Watch the following video and take notes

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=PgwmAUJx248>

STUDYING

Study the following examples of transition words

<https://www.ego4u.com/en/business-english/communication/reasoning>

WATCHING & LISTENING

Watch the following video on why to study languages

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=v7IU8mwb770>

Now make two groups: one supports the study of foreign languages, the other does not. Use the linking words you have studied.

WRITING

Think about your field of study and the reasons why you chose the subject(s). On a piece of paper, write 3-5 arguments for your choice. Then swap the paper with your partner. Your partner will ask you questions about your field/subject(s). You defend your choice.

HOMEWORK

Write a short paragraph based on the previous discussion. (80-100 words)

Masarykova univerzita, Centrum jazykového vzdělávání, oddělení na Filozofické fakultě

Arna Nováka 1, 602 00 Brno, Česká republika, Sídlo: Veveří 26, 602 00, Brno
T: +420 549 49 6162, E: cjv@phil.muni.cz, www.phil.muni.cz/wff/home/cjvff/

