1. What is the film plot?

The plot tells us a story of prison inmates. They fight for their rights. Eventually they decide to go on a hunger strike.

2. Why did Doron hang himself?

He didn't want to lie. The paper in his hand explained it.

3. What is the film's genre?

If we can call it a genre, it's a prison film, just as we can see, for instance in the film Hunger (Steve McQueen, 2008).

4. What is the film's Theme?

The theme of this film is a life of prison inmates. How are prisoners from certain social groups accepted, and how their life differs from the other group. Eventually it tells us how a thing they have in follow can bring them together despite beeing completely different kinds of people.
