

My favorite place in Brno

A few weeks ago my boyfriend, who comes from Brno, took me to the Hády quarry. I've never been there before, although I've been studying in Brno for over a year.

I did not believe that such beautiful place could be found in Brno and its surroundings. It reminded me of my birthplace ... the nature, the air. Unfortunately there were also a lot of people who probably come to relax. I have become allergic to people, there are everywhere in the town. I miss the place to breathe.

We walked on a forest path, in one place there was a huge green repulsive puddle looking more like a swamp. Suddenly the forest around parted and we stood at the edge of the great abys ... there used to be a quarry. The sun was setting and I had a beautiful view of the whole Brno. With my boyfriend alongside it was like a scene from a romantic movie, just perfect. The last rays fell on our faces. At that moment I had the feeling that there were only two of us on this earth. I felt safe and happy here, but maybe that was more of my boyfriend than an environment which was really beautiful. We spent about an hour here, but I felt like it was only a few minutes. This place charmed me and I like to remember this place and to come back there.
