

The Ellen Show

The Ellen DeGeneres talk show is the the most watchable one in the United States as well as in the world. Giddy success and stable top-rates are explained by two main factors: the host, Ellen as she is, and entertaining approach to the conduction style and the quest choice. Equally to famous actors, songwriters, scientists, politicians and stars of show business Ellen invites ordinary people who by some outstanding act deserve to be welcomed and listened to.

Before praising Ellen, I would pour the light on her past. In early years after graduation Ellen struggled to find her place in life permanently changing jobs and undergoing existential crisis. On the verge of depression she decided to try herself in comedy and that was the moment of truth. Not long after a tour of successful performances she was invited to Hollywood to star in tv-series Ellen where she got the lead role (interestingly, of herself). However, the life and popularity couldn't make her truthfully happy until she committed a coming-out about her gay nature on Orpha Show. A consequent gap in career lasted for 3 years when she lived in obscurity but consoled by her brave act. The change came when Ellen was invited to host a talk show. In the beginning, no one believed in purpose of the enterprise but commitment and enjoyable pioneer format soon made The Ellen Show one on the most viewable in the country.

Now she is famous producer, actor, writer, ambassador and activist, television host and comedian who has won tons of national awards and audience acknowledgment. Her life experience and honesty not only brought her fame and recognition but also made a role model for many people hiding their identity from others.

Along with that, the show is approachable for a wide audience of all ages, races and genders. Ellen doesn't make an exclusion for her guests. That provoked the saying that she has the most loyal and active audience of all other shows. And she appreciates that by inviting people from different backgrounds and offers them help or implements their dreams. It can be either checks for 20 000$ or other tools to improve their pock nook.

Her famous quests are also a big piece of entertainment; Ellen does her best to make them and others laugh by making up jinks or creating new games. There is no established scenario by which a viewer would predict the course of events in the show. The best of all, the embarrassment is smoothed by self-irony and sarcasm. As she said at the beginning of the career: “the only thing to pursue in life is to make other people smile”.

Personally, I am not an exclusion- The Ellen Show got me from the first sight. Many new seasons were flipped through however it keeps surprising me. The Ellen’s sense of humor is hilarious and always makes me smile and captivated notwithstanding the number of seasons or quests.

What made me really touched is the fact that Ellen created her own Ellen family. To commemorate the most loyal members she endows them with their own nameplated seats in the audience.

Recently I binge-watched some of my favorite moments of the show, and the best are the ones where Ellen invites young talents or heroes and the recollection of her best pranks and jokes.

In summary I would reiterate the pivot impact Ellen and the show have on the mind of the society. She sets an example of charitable nature, encourages people to perform benevolence and motivates the positivity to rule the life.