Turkey's Wikipedia ban ends after almost three years

16 January

Turkey is restoring access to Wikipedia after a ban that lasted almost three years.

The country's Constitutional Court ruled that the ban violated freedom of expression, the pro-government newspaper Milliyet reported.

The online encyclopaedia was blocked in Turkey in April 2017, after it refused to delete articles critical of the country's government.

The ban lasted 991 days, said internet-monitoring organisation NetBlocks.org.

The Wikimedia Foundation, which runs the service, had refused to remove articles that said Turkey's government had conspired with the so-called

Today's web is inefficient and expensive

HTTP downloads files from one server at a time — but peer-to-peer IPFS retrieves pieces from multiple nodes at once, enabling substantial bandwidth savings. With up to 60% savings for video, IPFS makes it possible to efficiently distribute high volumes of data without duplication.

Today's web can't preserve humanity's history

The average lifespan of a web page is 100 days before it's gone forever. The medium of our era shouldn't be this fragile. IPFS makes it simple to set up resilient networks for mirroring data, and thanks to content addressing, files stored using IPFS are automatically versioned.

Today's web is centralized, limiting opportunity

The Internet has turbocharged innovation by being one of the great equalizers in human history — but increasing consolidation of control threatens that progress. IPFS stays true to the original vision of an open, flat web by delivering technology to make that vision a reality.

Today's web is addicted to the backbone

IPFS powers the creation of diversely resilient networks that enable persistent availability — with or without internet backbone connectivity. This means better connectivity for the developing world, during natural disasters, or just when you're on flaky coffee shop wi-fi.

Archivists

IPFS provides deduplication, high performance, and clustered persistence – empowering you to store the world’s information for future generations.

Service providers

Providing large amounts of data to users? IPFS offers secure, peer-to-peer content delivery – an approach that could save you millions in bandwidth costs.

Researchers

If you’re working with or distributing large data sets, IPFS can help provide fast performance and decentralized archiving.

Developing world

High-latency networks are a big barrier for those with poor internet infrastructure. IPFS provides resilient access to data independent of latency or backbone connectivity.

Blockchains

With IPFS, you can address large amounts of data and put immutable, permanent links in transactions – timestamping and securing content without having to put the data itself on-chain.

Content creators

IPFS brings the freedom and independent spirit of the web in full force – and can help you deliver your content at a much lower cost.
